Samuelson Furniture Delivers Comfort and Independence in Motion with New Happy Power Recliner

A dynamic wall-hugger recliner designed to facilitate easy entry and exit

Samuelson Furniture, the only fourth-generation, family-owned manufacturer specializing in high-end hospitality and senior living furniture, is pleased to announce the launch of the Happy Power Recliner. Designed for convenience and support, the new wall-hugger recliner electronically reclines with ease at the push of a button, providing maximum comfort.

The Happy Power Recliner hugs the wall, requiring only 6" of clearance to completely recline. This feature saves space while still getting the full reclining comfort. As its namesake suggests, the Happy Recliner offers a positive user experience through thoughtful ergonomic design and quality craftsmanship.

"At Samuelson, we believe that no one should be denied comfort and dignity in their own homes, regardless of physical capabilities," says Michael Chalfin, President of Samuelson Furniture. "With the Happy Recliner, we've taken our commitment to supporting greater independence a step further by giving people the freedom to move with ease, even with limited space. The chair is a reflection of our ongoing efforts to bring innovative products to the market that improve the quality of life for our customers."

While offering all the comfort and support one would expect from a quality recliner, its sleek, modern design exceeds expectations for a standard chair by using powerful mechanisms that enhance user mobility when entering and exiting. The back reclines easily to provide lumbar and headrest support, while the footrest extends for smooth elevation. The arm, seat height, pitch, and depth ensure a healthy sitting posture and make it easier for users to shift forward and stand up without excessive effort. Thoughtfully engineered for senior living and for anyone seeking greater ease of movement, sitting, standing, and relaxing are easily accomplished.
